

Journal of Financial Crises

Author Publication Agreement

This Author Publication Agreement (the “Agreement”) is made as of the date last signed below (“Effective Date”) between [Name of Author] (“Author”) and Yale University acting by and through the Yale School of Management (“Publisher”) and relates to the publication in Journal of Financial Crises (“Journal”) of a written work tentatively titled [Title of Work] (“Work”).

In consideration of the mutual promises and agreements contained herein, the sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, the parties agree as follows:

1. Rights.

- (a) Assignment. Author hereby unconditionally and irrevocably assigns, conveys, and delivers to Publisher, and Publisher hereby accepts, all of Author’s right, title, and interest in and to the Work, including, without limitation, all versions and works in progress relating thereto and all copyright and proprietary rights therein, together with any and all renewals and extensions thereof that may be secured under the laws now or hereafter pertaining thereto in the United States and all rights corresponding to the foregoing throughout the world. Author hereby waives any claim to so-called “moral rights” or rights of “droit moral” that Author may have now or in the future in any jurisdiction with respect to the Work. Author agrees to execute all papers and perform such other proper acts as Publisher may deem necessary to secure any or all of the rights herein assigned.
- (b) License Back. Author is hereby granted a personal, non-commercial right and license to: (i) reproduce and re-distribute the Work in any medium or format under the Creative Commons Attribution-Non-Commercial-NoDerivatives 4.0 International (CC BY-NC-ND 4.0) license, the terms and conditions of which are attached as Attachment A hereto, provided that Author receives credit as the author of any such reproductions and/or re-distributions and the Journal is cited as the source of first publication of the Work as set forth in Paragraph 2(a) below. For example, Author may make and distribute copies of the Work in the course of teaching and research and may post the Work on personal or institutional Websites and in other open-access digital repositories, subject to the Creative Commons Attribution-Non-Commercial-NoDerivatives 4.0 International (CC BY-NC-ND 4.0) license and other applicable terms and conditions herein.
- (c) Third-Party Material. If any third-party material is incorporated into the Work, then at the time of Author’s submission of the Work to Journal, Author will identify all such material to Journal and either (i) obtain (and confirm to Journal, with written evidence if requested) all third-party rights necessary for Author to grant the rights set forth in Paragraph 1(a) above or (ii) disclose in writing to Journal that Author is relying on the “fair use” exception under the U.S. Copyright Act to incorporate such third-party material and explain the basis for that reliance. If Journal determines in its reasonable judgment that Author’s reliance on the “fair use” exception is inadequate to avoid infringing a third party’s rights, Journal may require Author to obtain rights under subpart (c)(i) of this Paragraph.

2. Attribution and Related Matters.

- (a) Attribution of the Work. When reproducing and/or re-distributing the Work, subject to Paragraph 1(b) above, Author will make all reasonable efforts to ensure that the Work is attributed to the Journal by the Journal’s name, volume number, first page number, and year of first publication in the Journal (“First Publication Date”). For any visually perceptible copies, this attribution will take the following form:

Before First Publication Date: “ Terms of Use: (Forthcoming) Wiggins, Rosalind Z., The Rescue of Bear Sterns, Journal of Financial Crises , Vol. 1:34 (2018) is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivatives 4.0 International License (CC BY-NC-ND 4.0). © 2018 Yale University. Except as noted, all rights reserved.”
After First Publication Date: “ Terms of Use: Wiggins, Rosalind Z., The Rescue of Bear Sterns, Journal of Financial Crises , Vol. 1:34 (2018) is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivatives 4.0 International License (CC BY-NC-ND 4.0). © 2018 Yale University. Except as noted, all rights reserved.”

- (b) Replacement of Draft Copies. To the extent applicable, after First Publication Date, Author will replace any draft copies of the Work (on academic research websites or elsewhere) with a copy in Adobe Acrobat PDF (or similar) format containing the final Work as it appears upon the First Publication Date. Author may obtain a copy in such format from Journal or the Journal website.

3. Editing and Publication.

- (a) Editorial Requirements. Journal requires that the length difference between the first version reviewed by Journal and the final version published on the First Publication Date not exceed 20% difference or word limit, unless otherwise mutually agreed to in writing by Author and Journal. All citations in the published version of the Work will conform to The Chicago Manual of Style (17th ed. 2017), as determined in Journal’s judgment and as supplemented by Journal’s own style guidelines.
- (b) Special Notice and Footnote. Journal, in its sole discretion, may affix the following notice in the final, published version of the Work:

 This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivatives 4.0 International License .

Journal may also include an initial footnote in the Work directing readers to applicable terms of use (available on the Journal website or elsewhere, as determined by Journal) describing the permissible use, reproduction, and re-distribution of the Work in accordance with and subject to the Creative Commons Attribution-Non-Commercial-NoDerivatives 4.0 International (CC BY-NC-ND 4.0) license (<https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-nd/4.0/>). In such event, Author will ensure that this footnote is included in all copies of the Work that Author makes available to third parties.

- (c) Editorial Process. Journal is entitled to edit and revise the Work before the First Publication Date, but the final version of the Work is subject to the written approval of both Author and Journal. Author will cooperate in good faith in Journal's editorial process and abide by its deadlines and editorial requirements. Journal will notify Author in writing of all sources cited in the Work that are not available in the Yale University Library E-Resources system, and within fifteen (15) days of such notice, Author will deliver legible originals or photocopies of all such sources to Journal. As between the parties, Author will bear the costs of preparing any illustrations, graphs, and other non-textual elements incorporated in the Work unless Journal agrees otherwise in writing. The final decision to publish the Work lies in Journal's sole discretion. Without limiting the preceding sentence, Author's breach of any provision of this Agreement may result in Journal's decision not to publish the Work.
- (d) Compensation and Copies. Author acknowledges that Author will receive no payment from Journal under this Agreement, and neither party has any duty to account to the other for the proper exercise of its rights in the Work hereunder.
- (e) Author's Name. Author grants Journal the right to use Author's name and biographical and professional information to attribute the Work to Author and to advertise and promote the publication of the Work.

4. Warranties and Litigation.

- (a) Warranties. Author represents, warrants, and covenants that: (i) Author is the sole [“joint,” if applicable] author of the Work; (ii) the Work is original and has not been made publicly available, in whole, in part, or in any draft or derivative form, except as permitted under Paragraph 1(b) above; (iii) Author exclusively owns all rights granted to Journal in this Agreement or has obtained all third-party rights necessary to grant all such rights (and otherwise has complied or will comply with Paragraph 1(c) above); (iv) the Work does not infringe the copyright or any other intellectual property or proprietary right of another; and (v) the Work does not defame or otherwise violate the privacy, publicity, personal, and/or other legal rights of any third party, nor is the Work otherwise unlawful.
- (b) Indemnity. Author will indemnify and hold Journal harmless against all liabilities, losses, damages and costs (including reasonable attorneys' fees) arising from any third-party claim based on Author's alleged or actual breach of Author's representations, warranties, and/or obligations under this Agreement (“Qualifying Claim”). Journal will notify Author in writing of any Qualifying Claim, and Author will use best efforts to cooperate in good faith with the Journal's defense of such claim. Author may participate in Journal's response to and defenses against such Qualifying Claim, but in the event and to the extent the parties disagree, Journal's judgment will control. Journal will not settle a Qualifying Claim without Author's written approval (which Author will not unreasonably withhold or delay).

- (c) Infringement Litigation. Upon written notice to Author, Journal may initiate legal proceedings against any party believed to be infringing the rights granted by Author to Journal under this Agreement. Author hereby consents to participation as a named plaintiff and will otherwise reasonably cooperate (at Journal's expense) in the institution and maintenance of such proceedings. Any damages recovered therefrom will belong to Journal.

5. Relationship of the Parties.

- (a) Independent Contractor. Author is an independent contractor, and shall not be deemed an agent or employee, of Journal. In no event shall Journal be liable for Author's acts or omissions. Nothing in this Agreement shall be deemed to create a partnership, joint venturer or employer-employee relationship. Author will neither state nor imply that Author is supported, endorsed, or sponsored by Journal or otherwise affiliated with Journal, except as expressly provided under the terms and conditions of this Agreement. Author will not use the Journal's name, logos or other trademarks except as specifically permitted herein.
- (b) No Assignment. Author shall not assign, transfer, delegate and/or subcontract its rights or obligations under this Agreement, in whole or in part.

6. General Provisions.

- (a) Complete Agreement; Governing Law; Execution. This Agreement (i) contains the parties' complete agreement and supersedes all other understandings and representations made between them (whether written, oral or otherwise) with to the subject matter herein; (ii) is governed by and shall be construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Connecticut without regard to conflict of law rules. New Haven County, Connecticut shall be the exclusive forum for the resolution of disputes between the parties arising out of this Agreement or its performance; (iii) may not be changed, modified or amended except in a writing signed by both parties; and (iv) may be executed in counterparts, which may be sent by fax or other electronic transmission, all of which together will form one copy of the document.
- (b) Contact. Author will keep Journal informed of Author's current postal address, email address, and phone number. Author's current information is set forth below:
