CALL FOR PAPERS Submissions are invited to the First Conference on Zero/Minimal Intelligence (ZI/MI) Agents sponsored by Yale School of Management, Cowles Foundation and Max Planck Institute for Human Development. The Conference will be held at the Yale School of Management, New Haven CT 06511, USA, from Thursday, October 22 (welcome reception at 6 PM) to Saturday, October 24, 2020 (after lunch at 1 PM). Submissions deadline is May 21, 2020 (Click here to submit).

Zero-intelligence (ZI) and Minimal-intelligence (MI) agents have provided valuable insights into how rules of engagement and institutional structures affect outcomes. This conference is for sharing insights, findings, theories, applications, and tools regarding ZI and MI agents in the following areas and beyond:

- Economics, Finance, and Business
- Psychology, Sociology, Politics and Humanities
- Computer Science, AI, and Machine Learning
- Engineering, Automation, Telecommunications, and Information Systems and Control
- Energy, Fuel, and Ecological Sciences
- Mathematics, Statistical Physics, and Complexity
- ZI/MI Software

To the extent possible, please send your completed papers (existing or in-progress). Extended abstracts of approximately 1,000 words describing the idea, findings/hypothesis, and method are also welcome. Please indicate your subfield in the subject line. All submissions should be received by Thursday, May 21, 2020. Organizers will get back to you by June 30, 2020 Click here, to submit.

Please write to us at ZIconference@yale.edu regarding any questions about attending, presenting your work, organizing a session, or participating in some other manner. Or visit the conference website.

Note: Since the conference is seven months away, we are proceeding with plans for this event and invite submissions with this Call for Papers. We shall inform you if plans change in light of Covid 19.
